Test Matrix [1]

Review the current status. Lofton has pointed out that we are all 3 weeks past due on our test creation and review assignments [2]. This will have an impact on the schedule.

With the exception of the transform tests there has been no visible progress in the test creations and/or reviews in about a month. This means that we are not getting the much needed feedback for the W3C working group.

Next telecon or work session

Next phone call on November 12?
