Public Review

The OASIS Classification of Everyday Living (COEL) TC [1] members have recently approved six Committee Specification Drafts (CSD) and submitted them for 30-day public review:

Classification of Everyday Living Version 1.0
Committee Specification Draft 02 / Public Review Draft 01
13 October 2016

Roles, Principles, and Ecosystem Version 1.0
Committee Specification Draft 02 / Public Review Draft 01
13 October 2016

Behavioural Atom Protocol Version 1.0
Committee Specification Draft 02 / Public Review Draft 01
13 October 2016

Minimal Management Interface Version 1.0
Committee Specification Draft 02 / Public Review Draft 01
13 October 2016

Identity Authority Interface Version 1.0
Committee Specification Draft 02 / Public Review Draft 01
13 October 2016

Public Query Interface Version 1.0
Committee Specification Draft 02 / Public Review Draft 01
13 October 2016

What are the Classification of Everyday Living specifications and why are they important?

Digital technologies are becoming more and more integrated into our daily lives. They promise huge benefits to society, but the data they create carries potential for abuse.

COEL is a hierarchical taxonomy of everyday human life events, comprised of a Knowledge Base, Data Model and Methodology. It aims to be a roadmap for collecting and handling personal data that protects the interests of both individuals and businesses.

Classification of Everyday Living V1.0 provides an overview of the specification and defines the model of the hierarchical taxonomy.

Roles, Principles, and Ecosystem V1.0 describes the roles of the various actors and principles of a COEL ecosystem.

Behavioural Atom Protocol V1.0 defines a protocol for data exchanges that are capable of describing, querying and reporting a human activity event (Behavioural Atom) using the COEL model classification.

Minimal Management Interface V1.0 describes the minimal interface between a Data Engine and other actors in the ecosystem.

Identity Authority Interface V1.0 defines the interface protocol for an Identity Authority (IDA). The IDA is a central web-based service that statelessly provides unique, signed Pseudonymous Keys.

Public Query Interface describes the minimum synchronous query interface that must be provided by a Data Engine.

Public Review Period:

The public review starts 10 November 2016 at 00:00 UTC and ends 09 December 2016 at 23:59 UTC.

This is an open invitation to comment. OASIS solicits feedback from potential users, developers and others, whether OASIS members or not, for the sake of improving the interoperability and quality of its technical work.

Reviewers may provide comments directly from the comment-tag version of document. The HTML files with inline commenting include a `?[comment?]` link next to each section heading. Clicking on this link will launch your email application and begin a message to coel-comment@lists.oasis-open.org [1] with the specific section number and title in the subject line. Simply enter your comment and click send.

Note that you must be subscribed to the comment mailing list before sending feedback. Instructions on how to subscribe can be found at https://www.oasis-open.org/committees/comments/index.php?wg_abbrev=coel [2].
